ADOLESCENT EMPOWERMENT PROGRAMME: IMPACT, OUTCOMES, AND OUTPUTS

Theory of change for UNICEF partners and civil society organizations on adolescent empowerment framework in addressing gender based violence and exploitation.

United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)

works in more than 190 countries and territories to help children survive and thrive, from early childhood through adolescence. The world's largest provider of vaccines for developing countries, UNICEF supports child health and nutrition, good water and sanitation, quality basic education for all boys and girls, and the protection of children from violence, exploitation, and AIDS. UNICEF is funded entirely by the voluntary contributions of individuals, businesses, foundations and governments.

Breakthrough is a human rights organization seeking to make violence and discrimination against women and girls unacceptable. We use the power of arts, media, pop culture, and community mobilization to inspire people to take bold action to build a world in which all people live with dignity, equality, and justice.

We create groundbreaking multimedia campaigns that bring human rights issues into the mainstream and make them relevant and urgent to individuals and communities worldwide. These, along with our in-depth training sessions with young people, government officials, and community members, have inspired a new Breakthrough Generation of leaders to initiate change in the world around them.

IMPACT

OUTCOME

Increase in the autonomy that adolescent girls and boys have over decisions regarding their lives

Adolescent boys and girls have the knowledge, skills, and peer group support to make their community safer for girls, and to act to protect themselves from violence, exploitation, and child marriage

Parents and community members support adolescents in seeking information and accessing services, encouraging decision making and playing key role in creating a protective and supportive environment.

Relevant government service providers in the target communities implement and enforce laws, policies, schemes, and programmes for adolescents to prevent violence and exploitation.

OUTPUTS

Increased knowledge of adolescents on gender and life skills, through classes, games, club activities, and campaigns.

Increased safer spaces created where adolescents can meet and discuss issues.

Increased opportunities created for adolescents to transition to secondary education, practice decision making, assertive communication, negotiation and conflict resolution to address violence, exploitation, and abuse.

Adolescents are exposed to rights-based platforms like Adolescents Clubs to build confidence to promote inter-gender and inter-generational dialogue on violence, exploitation, and abuse.

Communities and parents support access to secondary education.

Increased knowledge of families, communities and decision makers on gender based violence and adolescent intervention.

Increased access to services to prevent violence, exploitation and abuse.

Increased knowledge and skills to set up a Youth Club for adolescents.

Increased safer spaces created for families, communities, and decision makers to support adolescents.

Increased number of duty bearers from village, block, and district levels are mobilised and trained.

Enhanced knowledge and skills of duty bearers to render support for preventing violence, child marriage among adolescents.

Increased involvement of duty bearers to promote access and delivery of services for adolescent effectively.

Increased involvement of duty bearers to support adolescent enrolment and transition to secondary education.

Inputs and Activities

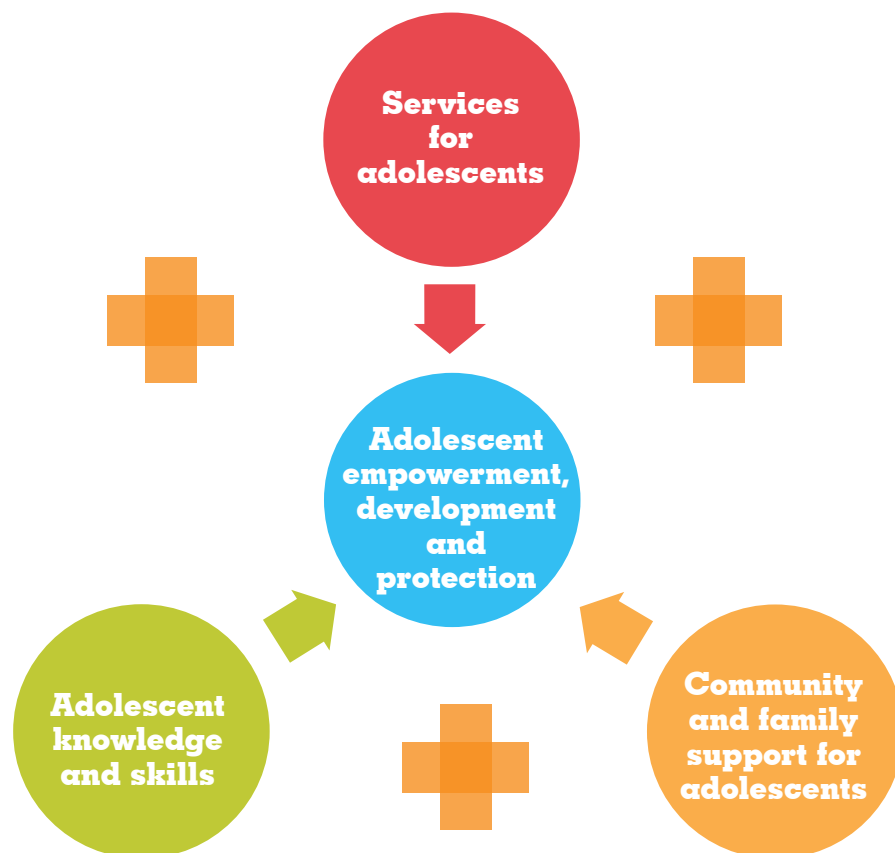

Inputs and Activities

Inputs and Activities

Components of Adolescent Empowerment Program:

There are three components which are critical for building a program for adolescents. They are

- Building adolescents knowledge and skills
- Providing or linking up with services for adolescents
